Cavitation is a phenomenon in which rapid changes of pressure in a liquid lead to the formation of small vapor-filled cavities, in places where the pressure is relatively low.. When subjected to higher pressure, these cavities, called "bubbles" or "voids", collapse and can generate an intense shock wave.. Cavitation is a significant cause of wear in some engineering contexts.

The first and most important point is that genetic algorithms are intrinsically parallel. Most other algorithms are serial and can only explore the solution space to a problem in one direction at a time, and if the solution they discover turns out to be suboptimal, there is nothing to do but abandon all work previously completed and start over.
