I have a Bolens Edger with a Tecumseh LV148EA motor. When I got it two years ago from Lowes, after the first use it wouldn't run. It would start after several tries, but would only run for a few seconds. I took it back to Lowes and it took three months to get it back and it started and ran pretty good.

Tecumseh lv148 flywheel torque. by 38racing » Fri Sep 14, 2018 5:05 pm . Service manual that I have doesn't cover the lv series. Lav is there though. For it I see 37.5 ft lbs for aluminum. I assume that should work for the lv. This mower was left at our charity dumpster. I'm wondering how much shift would cause a no start.
