I do not expect that there are significant changes in the new edition.] The University of Chicago School Mathematics Project (UCSMP) math program has produced six texts teaching integrated mathematics for junior and senior high levels. The first book in the series, a pre-algebra text, is titled Transition Mathematics.

Algebra (UCSMP) - cathyduffyreviews.com

I do not expect that there are significant changes in the new edition.] The UCSMP series probably reflects the NCTM Standards better than any other high school math series. Algebra is integrated throughout the course. Technological tools are vital to the course. Real world applications show students why they need to learn geometry.
